IT'S MY OPINION AND I HAVE ONE!
rrichards@stjohnneumann.us

Hello to you all,

Well as you all have heard Fr Mark is going to be leaving us at the end of this coming week. First I want to take this opportunity to thank Fr. Mark for all he has done here at St. John Neumann. In the short time he has been here with us he has endeared himself to many of you out there. I know my prayers will be with him and his future as yours will be as well.

Secondly with Fr. Mark going, what does that mean for us here at St. John Neumann? Well we will not be getting another associate at this time. What I have done is contacted Fr. Manny, whom you all know from his helping here when Fr. Theo left. He and a couple of his Basilian brethren will give me some help in terms of the masses on the weekend. Fr. Manny himself will be helping with masses during the week. I am very appreciative for their aid as I am sure all of you are as well.

The mass schedule is going to be nuts, however most of you will not notice this in any way. I have to work around their availability, so the weekend mass schedule is all over the place for me, there is no pattern at all! I am just grateful for the help.

As for the other areas of ministry that Fr. Mark was doing, in terms of the day-to-day stuff, that I will take on and I know the staff, including the deacon, will help as much as they can.

Are things going to be a bit busier? Yes! However, we and I will be ok! Just keep me in your prayers! Thanks a lot!

Lastly, as you go home this week, reflect on the following from our Sunday readings:

How is God a presence in your life?

How do you live and die in the name of Jesus?

Where do you see Jesus present in the world?

“In whatever way we live-whether we wake or sleep, we eat or drink, we mourn or sing-all the while we are dying.”

(Thomas Moore)

Peace

This week we are singing for communion meditation O God, You Search Me. Psalm 139 has always been one of my favorite psalms. While meditating on it we get the picture that God is a very personal God—one who knows us well. Not a creator who made us and then threw us out into the universe and left us alone. No, a God whose Spirit is upon us! This interpretation of Psalm 139 was written by Bernadette Farrell. In 2006 the National Pastoral Musicians named her the Pastoral Musician of the Year. Here is some information about her from the Oregon Catholic Press website:

Bernadette Farrell is one of Britain's leading liturgical composers, a former member of the St. Thomas More Group in London, and an acclaimed pastoral musician. Since the 1970s, she has been a leader in the renewal of Catholic worship both in the United Kingdom and abroad. Bernadette has recently begun to publish the music she writes for children.

O God, you search me and you know me.
All my thoughts lie open to your gaze.
When I walk or lie down you are before me:
Ever the maker and keeper of my days.

You know my resting and my rising.
You discern my purpose from afar.
And with love everlasting you besiege me:
In every moment of life or death, you are.

Before a word is on my tongue, Lord,
You have known its meaning through and through.
You are with me beyond my understanding:
God of my present, my past and future too.

Although your Spirit is upon me,
Still I search for shelter from your light.
There is nowhere on earth I can escape you:
Even the darkness is radiant in your sight.

For you created me and shaped me,
Gave me life within my mother's womb.
For the wonder of who I am, I praise you:
Safe in you hands, all creation is made anew.

O God, you search me and you know me.
All my thoughts lie open to your gaze.
When I walk or lie down you are before me:
Ever the maker and keeper of my days.

FAITH WORKS

Gene Kijek

John the Baptizer has his birthday feast six months prior to Christmas eve, on June 24. This celebration is one of the oldest, if not the oldest commemorating a saint.

John the Baptizer was both a blessing and a problem for the earliest Christians. Accustomed to seeing him as Jesus' precursor, we can't image why anyone had mixed feelings about this heroic prophet. He came to prepare Jesus' way, to make His ministry easier to accomplish. He decreases so Jesus can increase.

By the time the first Gospel was created around the year 70, second-generation Christians seemed comfortable putting John in that position. Yet, when we listen critically to the Gospels and mix in some later history, we begin to understand that probably wasn't how the historical John looked at himself.

John or Jesus?

Several things have to be factored in before we can appreciate what was actually going on with this desert preacher:

1. There were still disciples of John several centuries into the Christian era who regarded him, not Jesus, as the Messiah. Did those individuals descend from some of John's original followers who were absent on those occasions when he dramatically pointed to Jesus and declared Him to be the one whom Israel anticipated would take away its sins?
2. Some scholars presume Jesus Himself had been a disciple of John. He was both turned on by his approach to Judaism and eventually baptized by him. Originally content to follow him, Jesus agreed with the reform this austere prophet proclaimed.

But everything changed when Herod either arrested or killed John. At one of those two points, Jesus stepped in and began His own public ministry.

3. Tensions arose when the disciple became more important for some people than the master. We see this in how the four evangelists chronologically treat John's baptism of Jesus.

That action becomes problematic when, one day, a devotee of John pointed out to one of Jesus' disciples that normally a superior baptizes an inferior.

Gospel to Gospel to Gospel, Jesus' baptism is emphasized less and eventually disappears. Mark describes it in detail. Matthew precedes it with an argument between John and Jesus about who should baptize whom. Luke refers to the event in just a small phrase. John omits it completely. Students of Scripture blame those pesky disciples of John for the de-emphasis.

On one hand, because Jesus had been presumably one of John's disciples, Christians were forced to find a place for him in their faith traditions. On the other hand, they couldn't give him too prominent a place, or else they'd jeopardize the place they'd given Jesus.

Glimpsing John

Only by concentrating on the first reading (Isaiah 49:1-6) do we glimpse what the historical John must have experienced. Not knowing the place his disciple's followers would eventually assign him, John most probably faced death with the words of Isaiah, his prophetic predecessor, running through his head: "I thought I had toiled in vain, and for nothing, uselessly spent my strength." He was about to be killed for pushing a reform he feared would die with him.

Though we Christians believe John died peacefully, knowing he'd accomplished his task of preparing Jesus' way, his actual last moments would have been strengthened only in the conviction that "my reward is with Yahweh, my recompense is with my God."

Before we look at our lives as failures, we should remember that someone eventually will judge us from a perspective we never noticed while we were living.

SUMMER IS HERE!

It's that time of the year when our schedules become a little more relaxed but we never want to relax from our mission to do the work of Jesus. We are reminded of this mission at the end of every Mass. Our Faith UNwrapped Summer Project is to go live that mission daily. There are many ways to do this. We made some suggestions in our Take Home Gift, but you may find some ideas while on vacation as you read a bulletin from another church. Share the bulletin by putting it in the basket in the Gathering Area. Be sure and highlight things that parish does for service. Post a picture of your family in front of the church you visit at www.facebook.com/stjohnneumanncantor.

Look for Religious Formation Registration information in the Gathering Area in early July.

MIDDLESCHOOL NEWS

Greetings and Salutations,

Today we hear about John the Baptist. The Gospel tells us that they thought his name would be Zechariah after his father. Elizabeth states, "No his name is John." Neighbors and relatives seem a bit confused because no one among them was named John. They made signs and asked Zechariah what he wished the baby to be called. Zechariah took a tablet and wrote, "John is his name." Hmmm... names. Perhaps this week we can reflect on our own names. Do you know about your parents' reason for selecting your name? Ask them if you do not know. Think about why they gave you the name that you have, and what hopes or values it reflects. Perhaps you are named after a character in a book, so you would have a love for reading, or perhaps you were named after a favorite relative; perhaps you were given a name that reflects your ethnicity, for example, maybe they did that because they hoped you would continue to live according to the tradition of your heritage. How have you grown to fulfill the hope that your parents expressed for you by giving you that name? In what ways have you turned out to be different from what your parents may have expected? Just some questions to think about this week. Have some fun seeking out the answers.

Vacation Bible School begins tomorrow. How exciting! Hope to see you there.

Lastly, I would like to thank Father Mark for supporting my efforts this year in youth ministry and faith formation. I wish you a great journey at St. Thecla!

Blessings,

Sabrina Queen

It is hard to believe I have only been here for 1 year and what a year it has been. I have met many wonderful people and I have made many friends. I came to a town I never heard of and found a place that became home and a parish that truly loves Christ and their parish and their priests. I was truly blessed to be assigned here and thank God for this wonderful gift he has given me by coming to Canton and St. John Neumann.

I want to first thank the staff for "putting up" with me this past year. This was a great staff that truly has a love for God and a willingness to serve. They helped me not only learn where things were on the west side and how things are done in the parish, but helped form me into a better priest. I want to thank them for all they do and for the friendships I have developed with them.

I want to thank Fr. Ron for his leadership. He challenged me and pushed me to become a better priest. For that I am grateful. I take what I learned from him to heart and use it to help me become the priest Christ is calling me to be. Thank you for a memorable year and I will be praying for both you and the staff as I move on to the eastside.

Most of all I want to thank the people in the Parish. You make St. John Neumann the parish that it is today. Without your love for Christ and your willingness to serve, there would be no parish. This truly inspired me and I was in awe in seeing everything that went on. Thank you for all the friendships I made. Know that you and everything about this parish will have a special place in my heart.

As I go on to St. Thecla know that you are always welcome there and any place I go. If you ever want to contact me in the future or get lost on the eastside the address for St. Thecla is 20740 Nunneley Rd., Clinton Township, MI 48035. Know that my prayers are with you always.

God Bless,

Fr. Mark

THANK YOU FR. MARK!
